

Boston Red Sox WUN Town Hall on World Narcolepsy Day 2024 Recap

September 26, 2024 - The recent event took place in celebration of World Narcolepsy Day on September 22nd at the Boston Red Sox game!

13 Wake Up Narcolepsy (WUN) volunteers attended to spread awareness about Narcolepsy and connect with others. They had a table set up filled with educational materials, information on the organization and even baseball stress balls labeled with WUN's logo!

Many attendees stopped by the table, all ranging in familiarity with Narcolepsy. There were people diagnosed with the disorder, an employee trainer eager to better support individuals who fall asleep during Zoom meetings, people from the biotech scene curious about drug development and parents wanting to know what signs to look for!

WUN also had a message displayed on the scoreboard: "Have fun at the game! From Wake Up Narcolepsy. Happy World Narcolepsy Day!"

Event sponsors included Jazz Pharmaceuticals and Takeda Pharmaceuticals.
